Feminist Epistemology and Methodology, 7.5 hp, Spring 2020.

Teachers: Lisa Käll and Lena Gemzöe.

Course design:

The two teachers, both from Gender Studies, with disciplinary expertise in philosophy (Käll) and anthropology (Gemzöe) will give short introductions to the seminars and offer reflections from their respective backgrounds, followed by discussions and collective analyses of the texts. The group will be divided into smaller reading groups that assume responsibility for intensive reading of selected parts of the literature. Further literature responding to disciplinary interests might be added to the two last seminars dealing with methodology. The methodology seminars will be attended by guest teachers from the Gender Academy and give room for work on the student’s own projects.

The course runs on Fridays 10-12 and 13-15 in Gula Villan, Ninox salen (see schedule here). A Round-table discussion with guests from the Department of Philosophy and the Gender Academy will take place on March 6 after the class. Philosopher Robin May Schott will give a guest lecture on March 13. More info is coming!

Course overview: (find the literature here)

Friday Jan 31: Beginnings

Friday Feb 7: Situating knowledge

Friday Feb 21: Revisioning objectivity

Friday March 6: Methodologies for diversity

Friday March 20:
Workshop: Tools and trajectories in gender research

Friday April 17:
Mini-conference